

The Blunt Truth About The Clothing Situation

Reduction sales seem to be the rage nowadays—one New York store advertises all wool suits at $19.00—reduced from $60.00, and other stores offer mark downs of similar proportions.

We have investigated these sales very thoroughly and find the clothing offered to be the cheapest kind of truck—suits that at best were never worth more than they ask for them now under the guise of Big Reductions.

Don't be misled by unscrupulous advertisers into the belief that you can buy good suits at $19.00, $23.00, $25.00 or even $30.00. Good clothes are always worth their price to the man that sells them as well as to the man that buys them.

CITY FILES APPEAL TO SUPREME COURT

Notice of appeal to the supreme court of errors in the case of Mae Richmond of this city vs. the city of Norwich was filed Thursday with the clerk of the superior court by Corporation Counsel Joseph T. Fanning and Allyn L. Brown, representing the city's interests. The defendant in the action appeal from the $25,000 judgment given Miss Richmond by the superior court and also appeal the court's denial of the defendant's motion to set aside the verdict rendered and for a new trial and the court's denial of the defendant's motions in arrest of judgment and for a new trial.

The court's decision denying the above motions was filed in the court clerk's office this week.

One new case was filed Thursday. It is an action brought by Victor Davis of Norwich against his wife, Katherine W. Davis, also of this city. The plaintiff is seeking the custody of his two older children. He represents in his complaint that his wife, without any fault of his, left home about Dec. 31st last and has since refused to live with him, although he has requested her to do so.

The couple, who were married about Jan. 1, 1915, have three children—Milton Charles Davis, aged 4, Victor Shadrach Davis, aged 2, and a baby about 4 months of age. The children are with the mother and the plaintiff is suing to recover the custody of the two older children.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION ADOPTED PLATFORM

International engagements when lawfully assumed is essential to our own honor and self respect, and the respect of other nations. Subject to a regard for our international obligations, we should leave our country free to develop its civilization along the line most conducive to the happiness and welfare of the people, and to cast its influence on the side of justice and right should occasion require.

Mandate of Armenia.
We condemn President Wilson for asking congress to empower him to accept a mandate for Armenia. The acceptance of such mandate would throw the United States into the very maelstrom of European quarrels. According to the estimate of the Harbord Commission, organized by authority of President Wilson, we would be called upon to send 59,000 American boys to police Armenia and to expend $275,000,000 in the first year and $750,000,000 in five years. This estimate is made upon the basis that we would have only roving bands to fight, but in case of a serious trouble with the Turks or with Russia, a force exceeding 200,000 would be necessary.

No more striking illustration can be found of President Wilson's disregard of the lives of American boys or American interests.

We deeply sympathize with the people of Armenia and stand ready to help them in all proper ways, but the republican party will oppose now and hereafter the acceptance of a mandate for any country in Europe or Asia.

The republican party stands for agreement among the nations to preserve the peace of the world. We believe that such an international association must be based upon international justice, and must provide methods which shall maintain the rule of public right by development of law and the decision of impartial courts, and which shall secure instant and general international conference whenever peace shall be threatened by political action, so that the nations pledged to do and insist upon what is just and fair may exercise their influence and power for the prevention of war. We believe that all this can be done without the compromise of national independence, without depriving the people of the United States in advance of the right to determine for themselves what is just and fair, when the occasion arises, and without involving them as participants and not as peacemakers in a multitude of quarrels, the merits of which they are unable to judge.

The covenant, signed by the president at Paris, failed signally to accomplish this purpose, and contained stipulations not only intolerable for an independent people, but certain to produce the injustice, hostility and controversy among nations which it is proposed to prevent.

That covenant repudiated a degree wholly unnecessary and unjustifiable, the time honored policy in favor of peace declared by Washington and Jefferson and Monroe and pursued by all American administrators for more than a century; and it ignored the universal sentiment of America for generations past in favor of international law and arbitration and it rested the hope of the future upon mere expediency and negotiation.

The unfortunate instance of the president upon having his own way without any change and without any regard to the opinion of the majority of the senate which shares with him in the treaty-making power, and the president's demand that the treaty should be ratified without any modification, created a situation in which senators were required to vote upon their consciences and their oaths according to their judgment upon the treaty as it was presented, or submit to the commands of a dictator in a matter where the authority under the constitution was their and not his.

Approve Conduct of Senators.
The senators performed their faithfully. We approve their conduct and honor their courage and fidelity and we pledge the coming republican administration to such agreement with the other nations of the world as shall meet the duty of America to civilization and humanity in accordance with American ideals, and without surrendering the right of the American people to exercise its judgment and favor power in favor of justice and peace. Pointing to its history and relying upon its fundamental principles we declare that the republican party has the generous courage and constructive ability to end executive usurpation and restore constitutional government; to fulfill our world obligations without sacrificing our national independence; to raise the national standard of education, health and general welfare; to re-establish a peacetime administration and to a judicious economy and efficiency for extravagance and chaos; to restore and maintain the national credit; to reform unequal and burdensome taxes; to free business from arbitrary and unnecessary official control to suppress disloyalty without denial of justice; to repeal the arrogant challenge of any class; and to maintain a government of all the people as contrasted with government for some of the people, and finally, to ally unrest, suspicion and strife and to secure the cooperation and unity of all citizens in the solution of the complex problems of the day to the end that our country, happy and prosperous, proud of its past, sure of itself, and its institutions, may look forward with confidence to the future.
